In the story The Paper Bag Princess, the dragon kidnaps Ronald and takes him away to his cave. It is left to Elizabeth to save Ronald. Imagine that Elizabeth had been kidnapped by the dragon, and Ronald left behind in the castle. Knowing what kind of person Ronald is, how do you think this would change the story? Rewrite the story as if Elizabeth had been kidnapped, and not Ronald.

Remember: You can't change the personalities of the characters! They must stay the same. The only things that may change are the events. You must consider how the change of events would affect the outcome of the story.

Once upon a time there lived a prince and a princess who lived in a castle but had not yet married. One day Elizabeth (the princess) and Ronald (the prince) decided to have a wedding. One of things that was sort of out of the ordinary was that they didn't invite anyone. Right at about 12:00 a big dragon flew down to the ground and landed beside the castle's draw-bridge. Elizabeth & Ronald were too busy partying they didn't see the dragon land. The dragon was unlucky and when the prince tumbled on the music the dragon started singing and dancing but every one knows dragons have big feet and big feet make big loud noises so when Ronald and Elizabeth heard the dragon Elizabeth ran outside and screamed "WHAT ARE YOU DOING? TRYING TO RUIN MY FUTURE HUSBAND AND MY WEDDING!!!" The dragon was so mad at Elisabeth he picked her up and flew away. Ronald ran after the dragon yelling how dare you treat my wife like that!!! Ronald was sort of a snob so it was rare for him to say stuff like that. After an hour or so Ronald pretty much forgot about Elisabeth but then noticed he left the music on and the entire story replayed in his head he decided to go see what was going on at the dragons cave although he didn't care. When Ronald got to the dragon's cave he saw Elisabeth tied to the wall he spoke out loud saying who wants to marry a girl who gets tied to the wall by a dragon. They didn't get married after all the End.
